

July 14/15 Webinar on China's Coal, Mining, and Methane Sectors. Below is the information required to access the recorded version of the session, which includes the powerpoint presentations:

DOWNLOAD INSTRUCTIONS:

Click on the link below or if your email program does not allow linking please copy and paste the link into the address field of your browser:

<https://downloads.mymeetings.com/NetReplay/2008/July/PG2015278/PG2015278.wmv>

USERNAME: PG2015278

PASSWORD: LEADER

Below is additional information on ITA resources available to U.S.companies interested in expanding trade opportunities in the China market.

Shannon L. Fraser
Office of Energy and Environmental Industries
Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration
14th & Constitution Ave, NW, Washington DC 20230 Room 4052
Ph: 202-482-3609

Program Feedback: Your feedback is valuable to us in our efforts to provide programs and export assistance that meet your needs. Thank you for rating this China program.

Would you like to talk to a Trade Specialist in your area? To determine your local U.S. Commercial Service, USDOC International Trade Specialist, click here. They can provide support in boosting your exports to China and elsewhere around the world, or complete a preliminary consultation survey and we'll follow up with you.

Intellectual Property Protection: Here is a summary of a number of tools and resources to bolster your China IPR protection plan.

Is China a potential market for your company? The China Business Information Center can be found on-line at <http://www.export.gov/china>. This is the federal government's most comprehensive source of trade information on doing business in China, including country information, exporting tips, trade leads, outreach events, trade shows, and much more! You can also talk to someone at the China Business Information Center by calling 1-800-USA-TRADE.

Are you new to exporting to China? Our staff assists export ready companies by assessing your firm's current interest and needs, previous international experience and organizational/product capabilities. You may use the China Business Information Center's self-assessment tool to evaluate your China market readiness.

China's Second Tier Markets: Learn more about the Dynamic Emerging Markets of China, including city profiles and industry fact sheets. Or watch a video interview with the head of the Commercial Section of the US Embassy on this topic.